

PRESS RELEASE

High Performance Infrastructure to position Prestige Jet for rapid growth

June 2008

Prestige Jet, a subsidiary of Al Yasi Group, and the new fast growing private aviation company, operating out of Abu Dhabi Al Bateen Airport, Abu Dhabi International Airport and Al Ain Airport, is offering an exclusive and seamless experience of chartering executive jets within the Middle East and beyond, has chosen Alpha Data to equip its new Head Office with the latest in IT infrastructure technology.

"Prestige Jet provides VIP and business executive charter travel, in addition to air ambulance service for patients," stated Mr. Raed Abu Zaid, IT Manager at Prestige Jet. "Our clients are VIPs and businessmen, all of whom expecting high standard services, thus, calling for a flawless operation system, as well as services. Reliable and secure infrastructure is, therefore, crucial for the services we offer," he added.

"Our business has been growing rapidly, Prestige Jet has quickly established itself as one of the foremost provider of top of the range executive flight services from and to the Middle East region, filling the niche in the fast growing VIP and business aviation market," added Abu Zaid. "We were looking for a company with both the experience and full product range suitable for our sector. Alpha Data has worked with the biggest airline companies in the UAE, and hence understood our needs and concerns regarding the setting up of Prestige Jet. Alpha Data is therefore set to build an advanced infrastructure of Cabling, LAN, Security and Telephony network," further stated Mr. Abu Zaid.

Maher Al Abed, Communication Engineer at Alpha Data said, "Running private charter jet services creates a demand for networking solutions to provide fast, reliable connectivity across the network, around the clock. And based on the nature of Prestige Jet business, we have worked closely with our partners at Belden, Nortel and Juniper to account for all the needs of Prestige Jet."
